

MESSAGE SECURITY TEAM POKÉBIP

Following the incidents of July 28

We regret to announce that the site "Pokébip.com" on which you are registered underwent a major computer attack the night of 27 to 28 July 2015. The site has been disabled much of the 28th for this reason.

the author of the attack has had access to the database that contains user accounts and encrypted passwords. Passwords, although the Members of the site, ourselves, have seen their password used by malicious individuals. They were able to access email boxes, skype or

We invite you to edit ANY emergency password that was used on Pokébip in the past. It must be considered as a compromise.

If the password is used on another site, you must also change it on this other site (mailbox, facebook, etc ...).

in general, we must also avoid reusing the same password on multiple sites for the flight password remains confined to a single site. but tomorrow another site you frequent will be attacked in the same way.

We are very sorry for the consequences of this attack. A complaint will be filed to find the author of the attack. Encrypting passwords help to find them.

By praying you to accept our sincere apologies

@ Blackyu: It's a shame, indeed. Just, I do not know the coding language and company ... ^^ "

@ M.Yumineko: The question has been asked a little earlier.

It's still a bit crazy anyway. Member Pokebip who attack the site where it is registered. : v

Connecting me, it wrote to me that my account was under maintenance, is this normal?

Light: In doing my research, I also saw that Kuroi'SH hacked Pokégraph and Pokemonespace too, but no trace of PokéBip in source cyberhack archives.

After everything was said anonymously to archival sites cybercrimes, so maybe the hacker used uen technique developed enough to go unnoticed throughout its entire hack. After, I will continue my research, but in any case, this Kuroi is very experienced in php code (It seems to me via php hacke because he does not like the python). Too bad he uses it are not terrible purposes.

Pokemon Trash to hacker was too. But it seems that it will not be by the same hacker. This seems much more competent and accept doing nothing caught the information on the website.

I therefore ask Thoranix and Walker to be wary of is there hacker. The hacker is called Kuroi'SH (Sahrawi), he more 20 000 sites destroyed his credit.

froggy is deemed to be strategist but also a very intelligent person.
He knows me by name as maybe I exchange nickname.
a shame that people like this do to deal with big shit actually 3 me I have to type twice the password to log me this is normal? kind I am told that it is wrong but in fact it just is.

and walker or thoraniX had explained, they had changed the security for passwords, except for those who do not co sétaitien 'since 2012 so they can change when they reco' afterwards if it could be changed before or not, that I know, I know nothing perso ^^ "

Comment # 170 added 06.08.2015 at 5:18 p.m.

A question by the way, I got this message by trying to connect to my account pokébip (with my new password):

"A maintenance was performed on your behalf Please reconnect.."

tend to become paranoid after an attack, my apologies ^^.

Then a last point for this post: this is only my opinion, but I think the problem here is frequently raised unpleasant, Walker will contradict me if I'm wrong, is that security passwords for forelegs to 2012 was not really effective for the current threats, and should have been strengthened previously with newer and effective protections when it was available.

mang4

again, if Thoranix and Walker do not share that view, I would be happy to have more details from them rather than the opinion of anybody member (like me, I am by no means an expert, I do not present myself as such, I just give my opinion based on the items collected.)

I feel that many members present themselves as security professionals or site stewardship as they have some basics ... But it's probably just me, n ' there see no personal aggression.

in short, admnins Pokévip to be very busy at the moment which is understandable, good luck to them.

I repeat, I support the site team, it's not their fault they suffered a cyber attack. However updating the security system of their responsibility. Good luck for the future.

Say, Martyl, if you could avoid spitting on the site team, I think they are as annoyed as you, or even more ... If you think it is easy to care for a computer security against crackers able to regularly create new viruses thus flout the virus until they are updated, I suggest you take care of it for them now ...

on Alternatively, if you're also riding on the security, you're not stopping giving important information about your account. If you are indeed careful, you abuse a little complaining for a simple password change; and if you're not careful that if you let it sounds, I think you're in no position to criticize ...

I want to say Congratulations to the team!
Although piracy is illegal it is your duty to secure the site and the data of thousands of users it contains. Neglecting such a way site security, you endanger the security and privacy of thousands of people! Bravo.

Botahn> When talking about encryption, we talk about it: <https://fr.wikipedia.org/wiki/Chiffrement>

Regardless of the characters in passwords, all who have not been changed since 2012 for old accounts have been compromised, we must change.

Comment # 159 added the 08/05/2015 at 11:39

I was wondering if any encrypted passwords were hacked where even if the letters of compounds etc. were concerned.

froggy25 thank you lol. greenkosky, if you took the time to look at what is different between a friend of code and password you'd understand why it's not possible.

a friend code is a trivial number of clusters that serves as ID has instead a pseudonym.

you can give your opinion, but you affirm live "beware to your DS with your friends codes" as if you knew you there. not give advice if you do not know ^^ "

Comment # 157 added 05.08.2015 at 7:01

There may be several interests.

The first is to do shit because pokébip not like it.

The second is to train for more costal level security sites.

The third is just for fun . We see a site with a flaw, exploited because we can.

Miatt

This is the reason we can pass around and that are harmful to the site, but not the users.

If there a:

Recover passwords with email, and test them on email sites, banking, social networking, ...

-Revendre information. From what has been bitten, we can do many things.

-Dévoiler Information m'enfin there is not pokébip but for cases like Sony.

In short, there are plenty of reasons, but it this is the key.

I've actually lower but for passwords I really recommend KeePass to those who would not have been my first comment. This is a free software that stores its passwords securely, both key on computer, but also create many strong passwords.

xD froggy25 a reason you can not hack a ds same code with a friend you think that's actually why friend codes? Ba for sharing !!!

And also you want to find something on your ds information your historic LOL you can do anything with a ds (eg you just visit the website but not register you there) and will respect your banking code should directly hack Nintendo.

and to finish with a password you can hack one account unless you use on the other site then think a little before speaking all is not possible at present (eg we can not travel in time xD) froggy25

greenkosky do me a favor and do not talk about the subject you do not master lol

Comment # 144 added the 08/04/2015 at 17:23

@koyukichan: why not? After all, with passwords, they can penetrate your account from any site or even your bank account, so why they could not infiltrate your DS to find information. Think a bit before speaking, everything is possible at this time!

Comment # 140 added the 08/04/2015 at 13:56

Nicoalex: you're wrong about one thing, it's a hacker. There are three kind, white hat are those you have mentioned, they are paid by companies to discover vulnerabilities in their site and remedied. The gray hat, they do not act, they find the flaws and publish them on the internet, they do not care if it falls into the hands of a white hat hackers or next. Black hat hackers are acting for their benefit, we call them, celons their category, cybercriminals, web hacker or cyber terrorist. These are all of the same hacker. (These names are not invented, themed hats is a reference to the cowboy, white is good, black is bad and gray has not been found but for them symbolizes a mixture of both). I hope I was clear on that point.
